In New Premises.

Mr. J. F. Clarke, who has been operating the Stony Plain Pharmacy for the past ten years, has, this week, moved his business to larger and more commodious premises, one block farther south on Main St., next the Red & White Store and opposite the Hardwick Departmental store, where his many patrons will find a much larger stock of his regular lines on display, and these in a much more convenient form. A visit thru the new store will be one of profit to yourself.

U.F.A. Chain-Store System

On the last day of the U.F. Convention in Calgary a resolution urging the organisations to enter the merchandizing business was almost unanimously rejected. The association's co-operative committee was, however, asked to investigate methods of co-operative merchandizing with a view to the institution of a chain-store system which would be under the wing of the Farmer organization as a step toward organized co-operative buying by farmers.

Forward, Canada!

Lying latent in the nature of almost every individual there is one human characteristic which comes to full bloom in times of excitement, emergency, or undue stress. It is the tendency to indulge in exaggeration. A crowd assembled for some particular reason and the average person estimates the number at two or three times its actual size, or an accident occurs and the report is immediately circulated that the toll of the dead and injured is many times greater than the reality.

So, too, when times are good the impression becomes general that they are better than is really the case, and a "boom" is created, speculation is indulged in far beyond what the circumstances warrant, and the end is ultimate loss, and in some cases disaster. Here in the West indications in any year may point to a fairly large and satisfactory crop yield, and the inevitable tendency is to make estimates of the yield far in excess of what the harvest reveals.

Turning to the other side of the picture, and the same thing will be found to be true. A slump occurs in business, the returns of the crop season are below the average, a degree of unemployment exists, and almost immediately the human tendency to exaggerate comes into play, and everything is painted in much more somber colors than there is any justification for so doing.

This tendency to undue exaggeration is in evidence in Western Canada today to the detriment of the whole country, and to every person resident therein. Recognizing the fact that the crop of 1929 was disappointing and below the average of many years, coupled with the further fact that the burden of the loss has to be borne by certain sections of the country which harvested little or no grain, the impression is created of a practically total crop failure, and that the country is in no good. Such exaggeration ignores the splendid returns of former years, and takes no cognizance of the fact that, taken on the whole, and year after year, Western Canada has been forging steadily ahead. One swallow does not make a summer, nor does one crop shortage, or even failure, condemn a country or provide substantial ground for discouragement and depression, any more than one bumper crop establishes the fertility of any section or justifies a "boom" and extravagant expenditure.

At this time the people of Western Canada, in city and country alike, may well give consideration to, and base their actions upon, the average of conditions. If the grain crop was smaller than usual in 1929, in 1928 it was so big that it shattered all records; if the 1929 grain crop fell below the average, dairy production, in Saskatchewan, for example, increased by the one and one half million pounds, a 30 per cent. increase over 1928. The figures of building construction in the West, last year, established new high records; employment was maintained at a high rate throughout the first nine or ten months of the year, and the present slump is only seasonal and temporary, with prospects for 1930 just as bright as they were in 1928.

Let us remember that if the export of agricultural products by Canada fell off in the last half of 1929, the grain is still in Canada to be transported by our railways and sold by our people, and the results will be reflected in the business activity of 1930. Let us be encouraged by the fact that the greatest of our great Western enterprises, the Wheat Pool, has successfully contended with a set of the most difficult circumstances. It has been put to the test, but with the united support of all Canada's banking institutions and business and commercial interests generally, it is now quite evident that it is winning out in its great fight to protect the interests of Canada's great army of producers.

It is impossible in this world for any person, country, or corporation, to forever move forward, onward and upward. It is inevitable that periods of recession must interrupt such steady progress. The stock market cannot forever go on climbing higher and higher; it must take a drop some time. If the pendulum swings too far one way, it must swing back again because an equilibrium must be maintained. We cannot always live on the rarified heights; it becomes necessary at times to descend into the quiet and repose of the valleys.

The position of Canada, and of all Canadian industry, agricultural, manufacturing, commercial, is essentially sound and strong; stronger than that of almost any other country in the world. There is no justification for any depression, because no cause exists for it. To the extent that it is prevalent with some people it is largely a mental condition. Reverses have been suffered by some people in Canada as in other lands, and occasions arise in the life of every one when they meet with a reverse. But a reverse is not defeat. Courageously faced it can be turned to victory.

Reduce the Acid

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach acts as a balance wheel. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour. Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 60 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in a matter of minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Do prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 60 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Air Must Be Charted

Pilots Should Know Exact Location Of High Mountain Peaks

Tragic was the fate of the two British airmen who crashed into the side of a mountain in Northern Africa, and were killed, while attempting to make a non-stop flight from England to Capetown. It is a reminder that mountains are a greater danger to airmen than rocks are to seamen.

The seas have been so travelled that almost every rock in existence is known, charted, and in some way marked by signs at night. Except for what earthquakes may do by changing the configuration of the bed of the ocean, there is probably no voyage that any ship can make without being fully prepared to avoid submerged rocks.

The air routes will have to be marked out in the same way. This is not the first time that aviators have come to grief through hitting a mountain.

The route to South Africa is across varied terrain. These airmen may have been flying thousands of feet high and felt they were quite safe, forgetful of the peaks which rear their heads far into the clouds.

Long distance passenger planes are to increase rapidly, and the pilots will have to be provided with charts which will show them how high they must fly along the routes in order to avoid hitting a mountain.

Record Of Flying Clubs

Canada's Airmen Had 15,400 Flying Hours Last Year

Members of Canada's 23 light aeroplane clubs flew 15,400 hours during 1929, figures released by the civil aviation branch of the Department of National Defence show. This flying time is equivalent to 1,232,000 miles, and is nearly twice that flown in 1928. Total membership of the clubs is 5,062. At the end of the year there were 396 solo fliers, while 165 private pilots and 58 commercial pilots had graduated from the student ranks of the clubs.

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper—mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may give the tiniest infant as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

Heavy Charge On Industry

Fires Are Costing Canada Almost One Hundred Million Annually

Fires cost Canada approximately $100,000,000 yearly, according to a statement issued by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in an effort to introduce to chambers and boards throughout the country a composition designed to lower this heavy charge on industry.

Business bodies have been classified into four sections determined by population, and a shield will be awarded by the chamber in each section for the organization showing the greatest reduction in fire loss, the most educational activity along fire prevention lines, and the most permanent structural and protective improvements.

New Nipawin Bridge Will Provide Gateway To Rich Area In Northern Saskatchewan

Faith in Canada's northern areas of resource becomes reality in the Canadian Pacific bridge now nearing completion at Nipawin, Saskatchewan. Deigned to take the heaviest locomotives likely to be built, this magnificent structure, a little more than 1,500 feet long, spans the Saskatchewan River, at a point leading from the more definitely agricultural section into timber and mining districts of recognized magnitude. It will afford ready access to at least unexcavated farm lands and direct transportation possibilities for those who will explore and develop mineral expanses rich in promise. The end of the year saw it finished.

Among the major operations of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the year 1929, the Nipawin Bridge, begun in October, 1928, is one of the exceptionally large steel structures in the west. In symmetrical spans it connects north and south banks of the Saskatchewan at about 150 feet above water level of the river. It provides not only railroad transit, calculated for 50,000 pounds axle loads on the engine drivers, but is made in double-deck fashion with a sixteen foot highway for vehicular traffic on the lower chords, designed for fifteen ton loading.

This steel roadway, built on a crowded understructure with a two inch untreated wearing surface, will carry the Saskatchewan Government's provincial highway across the river. Legislative forces co-operated with the railway company in relieving a situation which naturally proved a hindrance to agricultural development. Hitherto a ferry was required to convey travelers and vehicles across, a mode of travel full of difficulty by reason of the steep descents to the water level on both banks, a particularly serious condition in winter. At each end there is a trestle approach connecting the bridge roadway with the usual highway to the river. What this connecting link means in agriculture settlement and progress can scarcely be computed.

T. C. Macnabb, Engineer of Construction, describes this latest of Canadian Pacific bridge achievements in the west as one of deck riveted truss design with spans 280 feet long. The deck plate girders at the north approach are supported on steel towers each carried on low concrete pedestals. The abutments are of concrete and the four centre spans consist of deck trusses carried on reinforced concrete piers. The three centre piers are 150 feet high from the bottom of the footings and the connecting outer spans are 120 feet.

Engineering skill of a high order has come into play in the construction of the Nipawin bridge. Mr. Macnabb explains that owing to the depth of the water in the turbulent and shifting Saskatchewan channel, vertical supports from the river bed were impracticable. The great 280 foot spans were built out by derrick car from each pier and were added to till the steel stretched horizontally and reached the supporting span at the end of the truss. More than 200,000 rivets have been driven by the air hammers in the field to take care of the eight and a half million pounds of structural steel required in the making.

The bridge has been built by assistant engineer H. D. Brydon-Jack, whose wife, an artist of ability, has painted it with its romantic environs so skillfully that she has produced an art subject of much beauty which is now on display in the Royal Art Gallery at Montreal.

Up where the Saskatchewan waters begin to slough their dun color and take on the blue of mountain streams, this fine structure becomes part of a landscape typical of the vigorous West.

When the project was first mooted, D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Company's Western Lines, referred to this railroad-structure as one of the finest structures of its kind—a main gateway to the North, and tangible evidence of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's faith in the mineral and agricultural resources of Canada's great middle northern area.

A Challenge To the West

Western Canada Must Show Superiority Of Our Grain At World's Fair

Mr. Craig, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, points out that the world's grain fair which is to be held in Regina two years hence will put Western Canada on trial as a grain-growing country. The Pacific provinces have so persistently invaded Chicago and carried off honors at the International, that they have invited friendly reprisals. Every grain-growing state in the Union, and probably every outstanding grain-producing country in the world, will have exhibits at Regina. Canada's rivals are thus being offered an opportunity to "carry the war into Africa," and they have very substantial inducements to do so. If Western Canada can capture the awards at Regina that will be a more convincing demonstration of the superiority of our grain than the honors which have been brought back from Chicago. If our rivals carry away these prizes, the prestige of the grain-growing provinces will suffer in corresponding degree. The grain to be shown at Regina will have to be grown during the next two seasons. It is not too early to centre attention upon that event and begin to prepare for it.—Edmonton Bulletin.

Indigent Patient Problem

Question Is Discussed By Saskatchewan Medical Council

Efforts to solve what is known as the indigent patient problem have been commenced by medical men of Saskatchewan. While views of the physicians have not been given, the matter was discussed at the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan medical council.

The medical council spent much time on the problem of the relation of the medical man to the public, particularly in regard to indigent people. "No scheme has been decided on."

Dr. O. E. Rothwell, newly elected president, states, "A conference has been called for interested organizations in the province and we hope to reach a solution."

"The meeting will be held in Regina some time later this month. The United Farmers, municipal officers, medical men and other interested parties, will take part in the conference. The exact date has not been decided on."

Dr. Rothwell said that the matter was one of much interest to the medical council in the province and elsewhere in Canada. It is expected that it will provide one of the important discussions at the gathering of the British Medical Association which will be held at Winnipeg during August.

It is expected that a number of Saskatchewan physicians will attend the Winnipeg gathering. The association has met on one or two previous occasions in Canada.

Will Discourage Immigration

No Change Is Made In Quota Of Immigrants From Europe

No change has been made in the quota of colonists to be brought from central European countries in 1930, according to officials of the Department of Immigration and Colonization of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Montreal. The reply was given to the question of the number of Mennonite families coming to Canada this year. A conference between the railway officials and the Department of Immigration, of the Dominion Government, made allowances for a few Mennonite families last September and since that time no changes have been made.

For Study Of Cancer

Colony Of Mice To Be Kept For Experimental Purposes At Laboratory In Maine

A city of mice—20,000 to 40,000 of them—will ultimately be under the eyes of scientists at the Jackson Memorial Laboratory, at Bar Harbor, Me., for the study of cancer. Clarence C. Little, director of the laboratory, and former president of the University of Maine, and the University of Michigan, has announced.

A complete record of the life history of each of the small rodents will be kept and although no startling or sensational results are expected, Mr. Little and members of the staff hope to learn some things that will aid in the fight against the disease.

Large Metal Shipment

Aluminum Slabs Valued At Over Million and a Half Shipped From Vancouver To Japan

Aluminum slabs and bars to the value of $1,500,000, originating in the Province of Quebec, have been shipped from Vancouver to Japan. They represent the largest shipment of metal ever to leave the western port—being some 3,000 tons in weight—and it is reported that a second similar shipment will follow shortly.

Another outward movement of some importance is that of lead and zinc concentrates from a mine near Field, B.C., to refineries in Japan and the United States. These shipments are likely soon to run from 5,000 to 10,000 tons per month.

Many a man who imagines he is a wrestler can't even throw dice.

A new seed grain elevator, erected by the government of Canada at a cost of $300,000, has just been opened formally for business in Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan. This addition to the machinery of the grain industry in western Canada is the first plant of its type to be constructed on this continent. It is a sixteen-story building furnished with the most modern appliances for the handling, cleaning and grading of seed grain and is capable of receiving such grain at the rate of 5,000 bushels an hour for storage in its bins. The plant has been erected for the Saskatchewan Register Seed Growers' Association. This organization is commonly known as the Seed Grain Pool. It numbers among its directors two celebrated growers of seed grain, J. C. Mitchell, of Dahnada, and Dr. Charles Wheeler, of Rosthern, both of whom have been winners in the past of the highest award for samples of hard spring wheat at international grain exhibitions in Chicago and, in consequence, have held for a season the title of "Wheat King" of America. The Seed Grain Pool, in Saskatchewan, has been in existence for five years and in that time has quadrupled the volume of its business.

The new plant in Moose Jaw thus will play a part in the operations of one group of workers in a very important branch of agriculture in Canada. Of such workers four or five thousand are enrolled in the Canadian Seed Growers' Association. This organization was formed for the purpose of promoting interest in the production and use of high-grade seeds on Canadian farms, and its members throughout the Dominion carry on their operations in accordance with certain rules. In a number of the provinces, too, subsidiary seed growers' associations have been in existence for a number of years. Members of these organizations have supplied seed of excellent quality to farmers in this country, the United States, Argentina and other countries. The government of Canada has provided for the testing and registration of seed grains and provincial governments, among them that of Ontario, have endeavored to provide the farmers with good varieties of grain and vegetables and to encourage them to see that their seed is clean and thus help to combat the spread of noxious weeds. L. H. Newman, the Dominion cerealist, wrote a few years ago that "among the countries of the world, Canada occupies a foremost place for systematic seed improvement and for handling high-class seed in commercial quantities under official control." This is as it should be, because clean seed of good varieties of plants and of a high standard of quality is necessary for the welfare of agriculture in this country. — Mail and Empire.

Limiting Fish Catch

Only Six Million Pounds May Be Taken In Lake Winnipeg, According To Ruling

The limitation on the catch of fish in Lake Winnipeg, has been set at 6,000,000 pounds for this season, according to an announcement by W. A. Found, Deputy Minister of Fisheries, at Ottawa. The limitation, which is in the discretion of the minister of the department, was originally set at 5,000,000 pounds. Mr. Found said that in succeeding seasons the figure would revert to 5,000,000 pounds.

FEDERAL AID IN DEALING WITH UNEMPLOYMENT

Ottawa.—If the provinces of Canada join together in admitting that they cannot cope with the unemployment situation, the Dominion Government is prepared to discuss remedial measures with them, Premier Mackenzie King told a large delegation from the Trades and Labor Congress.

The Prime Minister added that the financial position of some of the provinces did not indicate that they were unable to cope with the situation, especially as it appeared to be largely seasonal. Unemployment, in the first instance, said Mr. King, appeared to be a municipal responsibility.

If it became too serious for the municipalities to handle, their appeal lay to the provincial government. If the province found that it could not cope with it, the problem became a national one, and the Dominion Government would expect to be asked to assist in solving it. But, in the absence of an admission by all the provinces that they were faced with a problem which they could not meet, the Dominion Government did not feel called upon to take action.

Both the Prime Minister and Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, dealt with the unemployment situation. Mr. King informed the delegation the government has been pursuing a policy of keeping men employed on government contracts at work.

Both Mr. Heenan and Mr. King referred to the demand for a national unemployment conference.

Mr. Heenan insisted that he had not given the impression in his statements that he was unaware of unemployment. He knew there was unemployment, but he felt the calling of a national conference would exaggerate its importance in the public mind and perhaps accentuate the situation.

This was the view expressed by the Prime Minister. Mr. King made it clear that Mr. Heenan had voiced not merely his personal view of the matter, but the opinion of the government on the unemployment question.

Reporting Naval Conference

World Will Receive News Through Four Hundred Correspondents

London, England.—The world will receive news of the five-power naval negotiations through nearly 400 newspaper correspondents accredited to the conference, who will have offices in St. James's Palace throughout the proceedings.

An historic room of the palace, the guard room, where the edition of the King Charles I. slept the night before he was beheaded, is the local point of a network of cable and telephone communications extending to the four corners of the globe.

Press wires run direct into St. James's Palace for the use of a special corps of staff correspondents representing the Canadian Press, the Associated Press, and other press services, while direct telephones also are available for everything from local calls in London to trans-Atlantic calls.

Liverpool, England.—The estate of the late "Ray" P. O'Connor, dean of the House of Commons, eminent writer and journalist, proves of a value of only $1,500. This was forecast by the Canadian Press at the time of his death. The gold snuff box, presented by members of the House of Commons, is left to the House of Commons. His portrait by Bacon is left to the Walker Art Gallery, here. No provision is made for his wife, but she is otherwise well provided for.

Missing Plane Found

Dieppe, France.—Five persons were killed when a taxi-aeroplane crashed against a cliff near Dieppe. Four of the dead were passengers and the fifth was the pilot. The plane had been missing for two days, and it was assumed the smashup came in the recent storm.

Habeas Corpus Writ

Application Of Harry Bronfman Granted By Supreme Court

Ottawa.—A writ of habeas corpus was issued by the Supreme Court of Canada on application of Harry Bronfman, wealthy liquor dealer of Montreal, who is under indictment before Saskatchewan courts on charges growing out of alleged liquor transactions. The writ is returnable on February 1, on which date Bronfman will be brought before the Supreme Court.

Saskatchewan authorities will then be required to show cause for his detention.

This is stated by court officials to be the first time in 25 years that a writ of habeas corpus has been granted in the Supreme Court.

The motion was made in Chambers to Mr. Justice Duff. Counsel included Eugene Lafleur, K.C., and Gregory Barclay, K.C., both of Montreal, and A. G. MacGillivray, K.C., of Calgary. As the application was expedite no one appeared on behalf of Saskatchewan authorities.

The prosecution is defective, Bronfman's counsel contended, because the charge is laid under the Criminal Code, when it should have been laid under the Customs Act. Furthermore, if laid under the Customs Act, the prosecution could not succeed because the charge would be outlawed. The Customs Act requires that charges must be laid within three years of the time the alleged offence was committed.

Eleven Killed In Crash

Ohio Has Fourth Bus Tragedy In Three Weeks

Cleveland, Ohio.—Ten children and a bus driver were killed at Berea, Ohio, near here, when the bus was hit by a New York Central main train bound for Chicago, at the Shelton Road crossing, near Berea. Three other children, seriously hurt, were taken to the Boca hospital.

Cause of the tragedy was not explained. Weather conditions were clear, and officials were unable to account for the driver's failure to see the train.

Most of the victims were small children who attended from the first to the sixth grades.

The bus was said to have been carrying between 15 and 20 children.

The crash was the fourth bus tragedy in Ohio in the last three months.

Kept Link Unbroken

Radio Engineer Used His Body As Current Splice

New York.—His arms twitching with shocks from electric current, Harold Vivian, a young radio engineer, literally spliced with his body a broken link in the vast hook up and made it possible for listeners-in of 58 North American radio stations to hear the King's speech at the naval conference.

Just before the King began somebody in the control room of the broadcasting company tripped over the wires of the generator. Vivian grasped the wires together in his hands to restore the circuit. Leakage of current through his body to the floor shook his arms without a break, for 20 minutes until new wires could be connected.

Letter Carriers Ask For Higher Salary

Civil Service Commissioners Promise Delegates To Consider Request

Ottawa.—Serious consideration was promised by the civil service commissioners to requests for higher salary schedules for all letter carriers presented by a delegation.

The delegation presented data showing salaries paid in comparable employment, and discussed various sides of the question with the commissioners. The matter of increases in mail carriers' salaries occasioned a considerable amount of discussion in the last session of parliament. Hon. P. J. Vondra, postmaster-general at that time expressed himself in sympathy with the carriers' position, but pointed out the matter was purely one for decision by the civil service commission.

Sealed Letter Destroyed

Lawyers Burn Envelope Containing Name General Booth's Nominee

London, England.—The Daily News says that the sealed envelope containing the name of the late General Bramwell Booth's nominee to succeed him as head of the Salvation Army, was burned unopened by the solicitor of the Army, in the presence of several commissioners.

The envelope had figured prominently in the discussions of Army affairs leading up to the removal of General Booth a year ago. Many guesses had been made as to the identity of the man whom the general believed best fitted to succeed himself.

Lloyd George Missed Speech

London, England.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George was left out in the fog while the King delivered his address at the opening of the naval conference. The Liberal leader, and wartime premier, needed an hour and three-quarters to make the short journey and missed the plenary spectacle altogether.

Will Sell Power Plant

Moose Jaw Burgeesess Decide To Sell Franchise To American Concern

Moose Jaw.—After a quarter of a century of municipal ownership, the city of Moose Jaw consented to the sale of its electric light and power plant to the Iowa Southern Utilities of Delaware, Davenport, Ia., by a sweeping vote of over three to one. The number of yeas voting for the sale was 2,250, and the number against, 744, a two-thirds majority being required for the by-law to carry.

By the passing of this by-law, subject to ratification by the Saskatchewan legislature, the largest power transaction in the history of the province will have been completed. Involved in the offer which has been accepted by the city is a sum in the neighborhood of $3,500,000, the largest single sum of money to be offered for any public utility in the province.

The voting brings to a close one of the bitterest fought battles in the city's history, the power situation having been a bone of contention and discussion for over 12 months. The Board of Trade supported the sale; the local press opposed it.

Canadian Boat Ramméd

United States Coastguard Vessel Said To Have Pursued Vancouver Motor Boat

Vancouver.—The new Vancouver deep sea motor boat "Talheyo Maru" was ramméd by the United States coastguard vessel "Bonham" on January 17, and has been beached on one of the Guadalupe Islands, off the Mexican coast, according to advices received by the vessels owners here. A protest has been sent to Ottawa concerning the incident.

Captain J. Butler, master of the "Talheyo Maru," said his vessel was in ballast, bound for home when she was pursued and run down by the "Bonham." She had no liquor on board nor had carried any on the trip, he states.

Of Advantage To Customers

London, England.—We have established during the year a bank in Canada, in the city of Montreal. We have every reason to be satisfied that this direct line will be of advantage to any of our customers carrying on business between Great Britain and growing markets of Canada, states F. C. Goodenough, chairman of Barclay's Bank, Limited, in his address at the annual meeting of shareholders held here.

Named After Premier's Daughter

Towering 9,440 feet into the sky, the newly named Mount Isabel, so called after Miss Isabel MacDonald, daughter of the Labor Premier of Great Britain, is located about twelve miles west of Banff, in the Canadian Rockies, overlooking beautiful Mystic Lake. The Canadian Government have paid Miss MacDonald this graceful compliment in commemoration of her own and her father's visit to Canada last Fall. The peak is visible from Massey, on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and also from the roadway between Banff and Lake Louise. Inset: Miss Isabel MacDonald.

TO WIDEN SCOPE OF ALBERTA HEALTH CLINICS

Calgary.—State medicine is certain to be established in Alberta "and everywhere else," according to Hon. George Hoadley, provincial minister of health, speaking to the annual convention of the United Farmers of Alberta. He admitted he had no apology to make for the accusation that his approval of public health clinics in Alberta is the thin edge of the wedge of state medicine.

Comment from the Alberta cabinet minister followed approval by the convention of a resolution widening the scope of the travelling health clinic in order to give free annual medical examination to every rural school child. Among a score of resolutions carried, was one favoring hurried completion of a Peace River rail outlet to the Pacific Coast.

The Peace River resolution urged the importance of fulfillment in the near future of Premier W. L. Mackenzie King's promise in 1924 that the line would be completed "as soon as humanly possible." Intention of the farm body will be communicated to the Dominion Government, the Canadian Pacific, the Canadian National and the Northern Alberta railways. It was stated that the route was now not financially difficult; that production of Peace River area has increased since 1924, that 10,000 new homestead entries have been made in the district in the last two years.

A trio of resolutions directed to the Dominion Government favored decision by parliament, rather than by the Canadian prime minister in setting the date of Dominion elections; suggested legislation to require food products in containers to carry the name of their country of origin; and requested appointment of a committee to inquire into the feasibility of grading all products offered for sale in Canada.

Mr. Hoadley's forecast on the future of state medicine involved a statement that larger units than the municipality as organized at present, would be necessary in development. He believed that the units would have to be large enough to be able to support equipment adequate for cure and prevention of disease. Previously, the convention had instructed the central U.F.A. executive to make a full investigation of state medicine in all its branches.

If the Alberta legislature provides the necessary finances, Mr. Hoadley mentioned, the Department of Health intends to employ a specialist in connection with examination of the eyes of children. He stated that since 1924, 24,000 school children have been treated for the public health clinics of the province, the only system in existence on the continent. Not a single death, he said, had resulted in this time, though 4,654 tons of adenoid operations had been effected.

Saskatchewan Resources

Provincial Government Will Not Agree To Commission Suggested.

By Premier King

Regina, Sask.—Saskatchewan will not agree to the commission suggested by Premier King in his proposals for the return of the natural resources. The Provincial Government suggests a commission of three; one chosen by the Federal Government, one by the Provincial Government, and a third commissioner chosen by either the Imperial Government or both the Provincial and Federal Governments. This commission would hear the claims of Saskatchewan for all alienations subsequent to 1905.

The Provincial Government is prepared to refer its claims to the Supreme Court of Canada, subject to an appeal to the Privy Council, should the contentions of the Provincial Government be upheld by the courts. The question of the accounting between 1870 and 1905 would then be referred to the chosen commission. On agreement being arrived at, the question of compensation and the amendment to the constitution would then be submitted to the Provincial Legislature at an early date that it might be given effect to by the Imperial Government.

The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL

Copyright, 1922, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, marries Molly Winton, a ballet singer, not knowing he is loved by Grace Farrell, a little cigarette girl. After Al wins fame as a composer of popular songs, Molly elopes with John Perry, taking her baby, Junior. Al, broken by his loss, becomes a derelict, but is saved by Grace Farrell. Molly obtains a divorce. One night, while Al is appearing in a Broadway revue, he is called to a hospital by Molly because Junior is dying. After his boy's death, Al breaks down on the stage while trying to sing. Months later he recovers from this blow. Then he and Grace are married at the Little Church Around the Corner.

CHAPTER XXXII

Grace came out of the church door proudly, leaning on Al's arm, to face the news photographers who, had, somehow, learned of the event. The cameramen did not have to tell Grace and Al to smile. Their faces were radiant. When this ceremony was over they stepped into a limousine and went whirling up the Avenue among the fantastic skyscrapers that seemed to Grace all rosy and pink against the deep blue afternoon sky.

And later?
Spring days came and the mellow approach of summer. Up and down Broadway and in all the cities, towns and hamlets stretching across the continent they were singing the songs Al had written—new songs that reflected the happiness of his new life with Grace.

Grace and Al lived in a tower apartment in one of the new Fifth Avenue buildings, forty floors above the roar of the city streets, with a little balcony that was like a hanging garden of Babylon. In the long early summer twilight Al and Grace could stand on that balcony and look down on the most fabulous city of any age. The rivers twined their silvery way on both sides of the island of Manhattan, the great liners came in from the sea, and Broadway at night put, like a yellow streak, diagonally across the island.

"How strange to find me here," whispered Grace softly one evening, as she smuggled against Al's encircling and protecting arm. "I who worked at Blackie Joe's so long, and lived in the canyons, and saw the sky only in small patches. Now I'm on top of the world."

"On top of the world," Al repeated, tightening his arm about her waist. "Yes, that's where we both are, and that's where we're going to stay. But not in New York."

"Why not, darling?" Grace turned to him quickly.

Al's smiling eyes grew serious.

"Because—well, I've been thinking Grace, I don't want us to stay around Broadway too long. Broadway's all right, and we've conquered it—thanks to you—but there are other parts of the world."

"That's true, Al. Do you want to go somewhere else to live?"

"Yes, why not. Yesterday, when the revue closed, I told Marcus I was through with the stage. No more burnt cork make-up, no more singing—that is, not professionally. I want to devote all my time to song writing, and I can do that anywhere. So—why not California?"

"To live?"

"Yes, to live. Do you think you'd like it?"

"I'd love it!"

"Then that's agreed." And Al leaned over and kissed Grace. "We'll live in California and whenever we want to come back to Broadway we can. It will be new to us and we'll have a swell time seeing the sights. And if we want to go visiting to the Alps, or to India, or China, or the South Seas—we can. In fact, we'll go anywhere your little heart desires."

Spring days, summer days and two figures, small in the distance, standing on that high balcony, talking in whispers of their love and their life in the future, which seemed to stretch before them like a silver highway melting into the mist. And then

Night on Broadway once more, with the expensively garbed after-theatre crowds drifting into the Club Bongo. The name was the same, but there were new owners and a new master of ceremonies.

The jazz band played, the dancers swayed, and the master of ceremonies exhorted everybody to be friendly and have a good time. When the music ended and the couples left the floor the master of ceremonies looked about for a celebrity to introduce. Finally he found one and caught the attention of the crowd.

Ladies and gentlemen, he called through his tiny megaphone, "we are especially honored tonight by the presence of that famous star and singer—Broadway's 'Singing Fool'!"

Al and Grace occupied a table against the far wall. As the spotlight shone across the room and found them, Al rose slowly in response to Grace's urging. There was the old roar of applause that had greeted him so many times in this place, and calls for a speech and a song. He raised his hand and the room became silent.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he began, "as most of you know, this is where I had my first taste of success as master of ceremonies. So it's only right I should come here to say good-by. As I bowed in, so shall I bow out. To my pals and the place that treated me so kindly I have only the best in my heart."

"Somebody once said, 'Go west, young man,' and I'm taking that advice. Broadway's been both my mender and my playmate. Tonight we are parting—friends. I'm going west accompanied by the little girl who has stood by me so loyally, Grace Farrell Stone—my wife!"

Once more the thunderous applause and once more Al's raised hand, requesting silence.

"I don't want you to think I'm giving up song-writing. I shall continue to write songs and someone else will sing them. And folks—if any of you could to California I want you to visit Grace and me. You'll find us not in a little gray cottage, but in a forty-two room chateau by the blue Pacific, with a Jap valet and a polo pony or two. If we're not in, the butler, or the second man will tell you where to find us. . . . May you sleep well and laugh in your dreams. Goodbye."

The crowd liked Al's humorous speech, but still the voices rose, demanding a song. "Sing to us, Al," they called. "Just once, for old time's sake!"

For COUGHS and COLDS—'BUCKLEY'S'

Al turned to Grace: "What shall I give them?"

Grace blushed slightly. She had been thinking of a song she wanted him to sing, but she didn't know whether she could muster up courage to ask him. But finally she said: "Al, do you remember the first ballad you ever sang—down at Blackie Joe's?"

"Of course I do. But I shall sing it to you as well as to them."

He walked across the room and stood beside the piano, just as he had done that night four years ago at Blackie Joe's. Grace saw him comfort with the pianist, then turn to face the audience. Then the familiar music came toward her, with Al singing the words—the poignantly appealing words of "Always."

They seemed to come winging straight to Grace in the stillness of the big room—words she knew by heart, words that had once meant pain to her. She knew she would never forget how Al had once sung them to another woman—Molly—while she, Grace, had stood against the wall at Blackie's club her tray of cigarettes before her and her eyes fixed on the handsome young singer, in complete adoration. How she had suffered that night, knowing the man she loved was pouring out his heart to the other woman!

Again the song ended in a moment of breathless suspense, to be followed by ringing applause. And Al, slowly vouching his way among the gay drinkers and diners, who reached out to shake his hand and pat him on the shoulder, finally reached Grace.

"How was it?" he asked, his eyes aglow with love for Grace.

"Marvelous!"

"Grace," he said softly, "it's your song. Al yours!"

When the audience had turned its attention to the floor show Grace and Al slipped out of the club. They strolled arm-in-arm down Broadway. Above their heads was the razzle-dazzle of many-colored lights and still higher the soft and friendly twinkling of the stars.

Little Helps For This Week

"All things work together for good to them that love God."—Romans vii. 28.

O what a load of struggle and distress Falls off before the Cross! The feverish care;

The wish that we were other than we are;

The sick regrets, the yearnings numberless;

The thought, "this might have been," so apt to press

On the reluctant soul; even past despair,

Past sin itself—all, all is turned I feel

Aye! to a scheme of ordered happiness,

So soon as we love God.

—Chauncy Hare Townshend.

Those who love God will find all things working together for their good. Everything helps them, as sunshine or storm, summer or winter, helps the tree. When the sun shines warmly, the tree opens all its buds and leaves and drinks in the warm air, and grows. When the cold storms of winter beat upon it, it withdraws into itself, and shuts its pores, and tightens its hold by the roots, and hardens. So when all things are pleasant in life we enjoy them gratefully, and expand in God's sunshine with thankful hearts. When disappointment and trial come we learn to be patient, trusting, submissive, hopeful, firm, and true, and that is good for us also.—James Freeman Clarke.

Advices Against Skyscraper

American Architect Tells London Builders To Avoid Them

An American architect, who builds skyscrapers, has advised British architects not to erect any in London.

William A. Delano, president of the New York branch of the American Institute of Architects, speaking before the Architecture Club in London, England, said he felt that Americans "are gradually being crushed by these monsters which have made life about as sterile as it can possibly be for the ordinary man."

"I hope you will not be captivated by this particular phase of our experiment," he said. "Unless you are ready to swallow our civilization whole it would seem a mistake to copy any part of it."

Fashions and Freedom

Men More Concerned Than Women About Correct Clothes

That all women are, as the matter of course, terribly excited over matters of style in dress and "the latest thing," and all men are sublimely indifferent is nonsense. If there is any part of the esteemed human race that has a more mortal terror of being seen in habiliments that are not what "they" are wearing it is certainly the masculine half. Because the style of men's clothes is based on the idea of lack of change is no valid argument that there is a "fundamental psychic difference." The code is different, that's all. That men have achieved the time-saving idea of an unchanging mode is, anyway, largely a matter of luck, more than careful planning.

What We May Expect

In opening the meeting of the Provincial Liberal Ass'n in Edmonton Monday night, says the Journal, President J C MacDonald stated that there were well-founded rumors that Alberta would see a provincial election during the coming summer.

Gone, But Not Forgotten.

Owing to changing business conditions and poor crops, some of the small town papers in Alberta are finding it hard to carry on. Two papers that have decided to discontinue are the Killam News and the Sedgewick Sentinel.

Keep Away from the City

Prosecutions against motorists still wearing their 1929 license plates will start at once in Edmonton, said their chief of police on Tuesday. "Motorists have been given ample time to get their new plates, and from now on anyone without them will be brought directly to court," he says.

Referendum on Beer Parlors

The Prohibition forces of the province, backed, it is reported, by several United Farmer and many U.F.W.A. Localists throughout Alberta, will make a strenuous demand on the Government to provide for a ballot or referendum on the abolition of the beer parlor; the same to be taken at the time of the next provincial election.

Monday's Hockey Game

Our Senior hockey team motored to Edmonton Monday night, to meet Varsity's men. Stonys were accompanied by about three score local hockey fans, who made their presence felt all thru the game. A small change had been made in the alignment of the local team, which some claimed was an improvement.

Goalkeeper Louie had a very busy evening owing to the almost incessant bombardment by Varsity's players, and was very fortunate in allowing only a bare 4 to get by him into the net.

Those present at the rink early in the evening had the pleasure of seeing a very fine game when Civics defeated Camrose, the game being much better than what the score indicates.

Hockey News

The Namoo hockey team, which engaged Stony Seniors at the local rink Sunday afternoon, proved to be a very nifty bunch of stick handlers, and gave a good exhibition of the game. Seniors had some of their good players on the ice, and held the visitors down to 4 goals.

A very pleasing feature of Sunday's performance was the photographing of the personnel of the Senior team, done by a well-known camera man. The picture will appear in all the leading sporting papers, including The Spruce Grove Gazette.

St Pat's (Edmonton) team, which had arranged to meet our Juniors on local ice Saturday night, phoned out early in the evening they were unable to make the trip. It is probable our Juniors will play a game in the City on a near date.

The Juniors had more bad luck the next day. They hired cars and headed to Onoway for a game. Owing to blocked roads, they got within sight of Gillespie elevator at 4 p.m., turned around and came home.

The Juniors will make another effort to get to Onoway on Friday. It's quite likely they'll get there this time, as their invitation reads "supper and dance after the game."

Juvenile League—Friday's game: Eskimos 2, Saints 0.

Stony's Twenty-Year Ago hockey players are holding secret practices, so 'tis said, in preparation for their game with the Seniors.

Only a Telephone Cord -- but!

What infinite care and preparation were necessary to call it into being. From the far corners of the globe came silk and cotton while the earth yielded up its copper ore. Famous scientists, engineering of renown and workers skilled in their particular operations have all contributed to produce these connecting wires of modern communication. In the Northern Electric Company's great plant Montreal the finest copper tinsel is covered with silk and cotton threads then twisted into one of the new any size and passing through the most intricate machine, is covered with a braided silk covering. All this must be done right if the humble telephone cord is to carry the nation's conversations through the years.
